

The definition of a heavy vehicle bus does not include motor homes. At the end of their commercial life a bus can be sold for conversion to a motor home. In that case the passenger seating can be less than 9 adults. As a motor home the class for registration changes to Heavy Vehicle Truck and the vehicle is no longer a bus.

The addition of the text “does not include a bus” into the Regulations appears to introduce a loophole so large you could drive a bus through it.