

Arnold COOK

21 Aug 2015

One way to measure a driver's physical/mental condition is to measure visual response times to programmed physical cues within the cockpit using sensory surveillance. Graduated results might implement graduated vehicle responses. Yours faithfully, Arnold Cook 210815