Hi im Mark Davies, Ive been driving mc vehicles for 20 years, As a driver I would like to see some regulations on turn around times, for example a guide line on maximum wait time, all to often you would complete a 14 drive + breaks to arrive at 3 am with instructions from yesterday as to a 10hr +or - lay over, only to find out after your 8 hours sleep that your likely to be waiting more like 16 or even up to 20 hours, as you can imagine they still want the freight there in 16 hours, but now you're fatigue is all ready impacted before you start and this follows through out the week now.

I would like to see at minimum departure times to be regulated to with in a reasonable margin either side of your previous departure time or with in limits if on less than 14hr destinations.

Thanks for your time M W Davies
